OFFICIAL SALARIES

The constitutional convention is disposed to be very liberal in the matter of salaries. The proposition to pay the governor of Montana $5,000 a year invites comparisons, which will show that in only twelve of the thirty-eight states is the gubernatorial salary as much as that and in only five. Mr. Clay was an abolitionist from principle, and testified his faith by manumitting his slaves a quarter of a century before Lincoln issued his emancipaber of the convention that nominated William Henry Harrison for president, and stood by the whig and republican parties until 1872, returning to his allegiance in 1884, when Blaine was the republican nominee for president. If any man deserves well at the hands of the administration it is Cassius M. Clay, who, as his letter shows M. A SLICK RASCAL An adventurer who has made himself famous (or infamous) in the west is now working the east as a more promising field for his peculiar talent for imposture. Further investigation has proved indubitably the identity of the two, and it is now shown that Worthington or Ward has eleven aliases and eight wives, to say nothing of children and other incumbrances, such as debts and broken promises of marriage. He has disgraced half a dozen respectable professions, including the law and journalism, and is said to possess the unusual gifts of bleeding at the lungs and shedding tears at will. All in all, he is a man of so rare accomplishments that we ne'er may look upon his like again.

I was suffering from an unusually bad cough, my lungs were sore and congested, and I consulted one of the best physicians in Helena, whose prescriptions failed to relieve me. I became alarmed, and at the suggestion of a friend purchased a bottle of Acker's English Remedy for coughs, and after taking it according to directions was completely cured. I therefore cheerfully recommend it.

The mucus would pass back from my nose into my throat, and recently th rouble began to extend down into the bronchis tubes, causing a shortness of breath and wheezing se if of aethms. My ears were also very much affected. The short time I have been treating wheezing and I am improving every way so fast that I feel confident that I shall soon be well. J. S. I would have attacks of hemorrhage near ly every day, which weakened me down so that I had scarcely any strength left. I had a slight attack the next day after I commenced treatmen but have had none since for now more than a month. The trouble is due to catarth. H. H. A young man working in the electric light works expressed himself about as follows:

"If you know the feelings of one who fears that he is about to lose his mind you will understand my case when I first put myself under Dr. Davis' care. I was so absent minded that when one would speak to me I would answer at random or not at all, and it seemed as if I could not remember anything. My back was very weak, and my nervous system was so unstrung that I would be startled by the slightest sound. I put myself under the doctor's care, baving but little faits, but from the immediate improvement I was satisfied
